During the day, it's Halloween fun. When darkness falls, evil rises.

When the sun is out, you'll find a kid-friendly parade, Peanuts characters and new Howl-O-Palooza activities. At night, it's nightmare-inducing fear like the new haunted house, Hexed, plus the new show, Midnight Syndicate LIVE. Of course our terrifying rides are open day and night. PNC ROSETTA.

The Guardians of Transportation are as cool as they sound. These giant sandstone statues are carved into the Hope Memorial Bridge, each holding different modes of transport in their massive hands. Similarly excellent architecture is all over Cleveland streets and buildings - like the famous AT&T Tower - which is rumored to be the influence for Superman's Daily Planet building. Get a real Superman-sized view on the Terminal Tower observation deck. The skyscraper is social enough to have its own Twitter account (@TerminalTowerCLE).

Food STATION

Famous local chefs like Michael Symon and Jonathon Sawyer make art you can eat. Before becoming Food Networkfamous, and earning titles like Iron Chef, these cultinary artists earned their chops in famous Cleveland restaurants like Lola Bistro and The Greenhouse Tavern. They represent a city full of cultinary culture – home to places like the West Side Market – a 101-year-old municipal market with more than 100 food vendors.

Find out more about these famous foodies and institutions by visiting This is CLEYELAND.COM.

CLOCKWISE: West Side Market, "A Christmas Story" Leg Lamp, The Cleveland Orchestra

The guirky side of Cleveland is perhaps its most endearing. Pick up your own "major award" in the form of a leg lamp at A Christmas Story House and Museum, or go south of the city to Medina to find the world's largest collection of privately-owned Hollywood Christmas movie props and costumes at Castle Noel, open year-round. For more quark, hop on over to the National Cleveland-Style Polka Hall of Fame and Museum or go visit the Superman House. where local writer Jerry Siegel and illustrator Joe Shuster developed the comic series.

WORLD-RENOWNED You just don't know it

C-Town offers world-class art attractions with and without attitude. For instance: The Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum is full of macho posturing (plus Elvis' custom motorcycle, Michael Jackson's bedazzled glove, and John Lennon's Sqt. Peper uniform).

Other attractions in University Clircle celebrate the humility of human creativity – like the renovated Cleveland Museum of Art and The Cleveland Orchestra at Severance Hall. Just leave time to watch attitudes collide at PlayhouseSquare, the second largest performing arts center in America.

MAL SESSIONS

5 reasons Eleveland's music revolution continues to roar today By Annie Zaleski

Stodgy museums, step to the side: The glass-enclosed Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum is a hip-shaking, guitar-flinging reminder of why Cleveland is ground zero for rock and roll. Memorabilia immortalizes the radio DJs and recording artists that invented the genre - including plenty from the Forest City (that's us) - while there are plenty of nods to inductees Springsteen, Bowie, and Rush. all of whom first broke out of Cleveland. Still, the Hall isn't just a local treasure. From the U2 Zoo TV cars suspended from the ceiling to the autograph-filled inductee hall, the multi-level space highlights the hand-written lyrics, colorful costumes, history-making photos and videos, and iconic albums that make rock and roll an enduring worldwide phenomenon. After festivities in Los Angeles and New York during the last two years, the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony returns to our fair city in April 2015 at Cleveland Public Hall. Expect nothing short of fist-pumping good times.

Happy Dog's monthly Polka Happy Hour with DJ Kishka is a beer-drinking bacchanal full of boisterous accordions and couples of all ages dancing merrily in the aisles. Be advised: The hot-dog-and-tots joint's annual celebration for Dyngus Day — a Polish celebration taking place the Monday after Easter in Gordon Square — is an even bigger, noisle, and more boisterous affair.

CLOCKWISE: Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum, Happy Dog, Nighttown BELOW: Beachland Ballroom

THE scene

In the two rooms of Waterloo staple the Beachland Ballroom and Tavern, you'll hear everything from obscure indie rock to rootsy alt-country. Across town, the dark-and-edgy, Coventry-anchored Grog Shop books indie, punk, rap, and electro. And though downtown club Peabody's closed, the venue moved its punk, rap, and metal bookings down the street to Euclid Ave's legendary Agora. Plus, the Flats West Barnk also has a new place for tunes: the two-story Music Box Supper Club, which books an eclectic mix of rock, soul, alt country, folk, and blues acts.

INDOOR VIBE

Forget the chill in the air. The city's live jazz scene is always hot. The venerable and untimate supper club called Nighttown books local talent and national touring acts. Take 5 serves up tapas and sizzling rhythms right in the heart of downtown Cleveland, and the Velvet Tango Room's elaborate and classy artisanal cocktails are the perfect appetizer for the club's ferocclously tight jazz trio.

ART ATTACK

Get a Full Dose of Amazing Art in Cleveland

By Keith Gribbins

ou won't need a defibrillator. At least, we don't think so. But we still feel the need to warn you: Cleveland has a crazy amount of great art options, and we honestly worry about your stamina. So take your time, find hearty walking shoes, and get physically prepared to gaze unblinkingly into the souls of world-famous artists.

CULTURAL MECCA

Call off that brain transplant at the Cleveland Clinic. There's an easier way to get smarter - visit University Circle. This eastside neighborhood is where Cleveland's brainlest gather, discussing art, education, music, history, business, and botany in famous institutions ranging from the Western Reserve Historical Society's History Center to the Cleveland Institute of Music. Luckily, all levels of intelligence are welcome, and they've made it real easy for us average folk. At the heart of University Circle is the very walkable. seven-acre Wade Oval. Its concrete paths, easy-to-read signage, and lush greenery lead to many of these houses of higher learning.

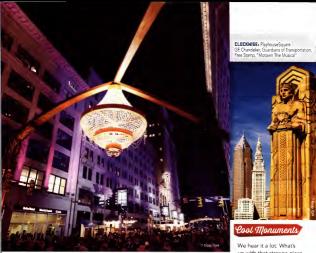

Find the Cleveland Museum of Art (CMA) home to more than 45,000 masterworks, and the Cleveland Botanical Garden, a ten-acre complex dedicated to natural beauty. If you see a metal stegosaurus covered in kids. you've reached the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. Keep jogging south on East Boulevard and find the Cleveland Institute of Art and Severance Hall (home of the Cleveland Orchestra). But it's not just educating - it's also entertaining. Both young and old can find fun and refinement in the art, music, and mingling of programs like the Cleveland Orchestra's KeyBank Fridays@7 and MIX at CMA.

Indie Darlings

Maverick art is remaking Cleveland too, but again, when progress and creativity collide, it can have facemelting results. So take precautions when visiting the Transformer Station in Ohio City. It's an old train power building that now channels its electricity into cutting edge contemporary art, hanging from its beautiful 1924 brick walls. These avant-garde attractions are even invading whole neighborhoods like the Cleveland Public Theatre — which has helped revitalize the Gordon Square Arts District with adventurous and experimental stage productions ranging from abstract expressionist dramas to rib-tickling comedies. This style of unconventional art is especially souvenir-worthy. For instance, artists at the Glass Bubble Project in Ohio City specialize in teaching and selling their creations (crazy, creative, hand-blown, industrial glass art). We say buy at your own risk!

LIVE FROM CLEVELAND

No need to have your eyes checked. That is a new moon hanging over Euclid Avenue. That's a 20-foot tall, 8,500-pound crystal chandelier hovering above Cleveland's theater district like a planetoid. The GE Chandelier is not only the world's largest, permanent, outdoor chandelier, but a beacon for PlayhouseSquare, celebrating the largest theater district in America outside of New York. Beneath it, fans of the stage will buzz between beautifully-renovated theaters, fine dining, posh hotels, and PlayhouseSquare's alarmingly-good entertainment options.

When it's not hosting Broadway-caliber theater and musicals. PlayhouseSquare's nine main theaters — the Connor Palace, State, Ohio, Allen, Kennedy's, Outcalt, Hanna, The Helen and the Westfield Insurance Studio Theatre - attract world-class music artists (Ryan Adams, Nov. 11) and top-of-their-game comedians (Steven Wright, Oct. 26). PlayhouseSquare also offers excellent eats and drinks at places like Zack Bruell's fast casual Dynomite Burgers or his modern French bistro Cowell and Hubbard, It's, of course, all just a prelude to the stagecraft you'll experience at the district's famous theaters, applauding shows like "Motown the Musical" (Oct. 3-19). Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" (Dec. 2-14), and "Pippin" (Feb. 3-15, 2015).

up with that strange giant Free Stamp sculpture in downtown? Well, that's called public art, and equally curious and cool monuments are all around Cleveland. The giant sandstone Guardians of Traffic (carved into the Hope Memorial Bridge) inspired an album cover by Cleveland art rockers Pere Ubu. Even the U.S. federal courthouse has that cool Cleveland Venus statue outside, so while you may be off to court. public art will still be there as an estheticallypleasing backdrop.

GET FESTIVE

This awesomely icy fest embraces Cleveland's cold season with light, fire, art, music, games, and snow. It's free, and it's outdoors in the Ohio City Market District, attracting barhoppers, food trucks, local bands, and snow pilgrims hailing the Great Wall of Light.

ZIP AND SLIDE

Costa Rica, New Zealand, Hawaii, and ... Cleveland? Yep, you can now count Cleveland among the world's most fun ziplining destinations, thanks to ZipCity. The world's only indoor ziplining park, ZipCity offers five ziplines that allow you and yours to fly three stories high. #### HARVEST ALES

A growler of Willoughby Brewing Co.'s sessionable Pumpkin Ale (5.2 percent ABV), made from 100 percent fresh pumpkins, is perfect for Browns tailgates. Fat Head's Spooky Tooth Imperial Pumpkin Ale (9 percent ABV) is perfect for either postgame celebrations or sorrows. Just don't forget about Great Lakes Brewing Co.'s Oktoberfest, often overlooked in pre-Christmas Ale hysteria.

BEER FESTS

Cleveland Beer Week (Oct. 10-18) features 350 plus craft beer tastings and activities - and Brewzilla, the mother-of-all beer tastings on the final night. The International BeerFest and Fabulous Food Show (Nov. 14-16) will broaden your liver's horizons with innovative recipes from all over the world. Brewnuts, the No. 1 beer-infused donut shop in the nation, we have to assume, features national and local brews recreated in delicious donut form. Try the Pumpkin Ale Brewnut made with real pumpkin puree and Southern Tier Brewing Co.'s Pumking, topped with icing that has hints of cardamom, or Santa's Little Helper, an oldfashioned sour cream donut infused with seasonal spices and Thirsty Dog's 12 Dogs of Christmas

OH, CHRISTMAS ALE

In Cleveland, Great Lakes Brewing Co.'s Christmas Ale is as iconic as a leg lamp, but be sure to make room for the honey, cinnamon, ginger, and nutmeg of Thirsty Dog Brewing Co.'s 12 Dogs of Christmas, which is probably the Kevin Love to Christmas Ale's LeBron James. This obviously makes Market Garden Brewery's smooth, spicy Festivus Ale the Kyrie Irving of local Christmas beer staples.

Every Day Is a Fun Day! For some, fun is a high stakes poker game. For others, entertainment means ridiculous, stomach-chuming roller coaster rides. We understand everyone's definition of a good time is debatable. Luckily, Cleveland has an irregular amount of awesome entertainment options for visitors. Venues like the Horseshoe Casino Cleveland, Cedar Point Amusement Park (think HalloWeekends in the fall), and the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum draw millions of visitors a year, but it's often the out-of-the-box options — concerts at the Beachland Ballroom, polks happy hour at Happy Dog, or creative adventures at the Museum of Contemporary Art Cleveland — that keep day-trippers coming back for more.

Walk, talk, and squawk with actual animals By Kelly Pickerel

CLEVELANO METROPARKS ZOD

Forget people. The elephant is nature's masterpiece, and you can get nose-to-trunk with these ultimate mammals at the open-air African Elephant Crossing near the park's entrance. Also enjoy lions, giraffes, rhinos, and more at the nearby African Savanna, or study our primate cousins (gorillas, lemurs, and spider monkeys) up close at the Primate, Cat. and Aquatics Building. Just don't miss the lightning-quick cheetahs in the building's backyard.

Nothing screams America more than five bald eagles soaring above. See the quintet of our country's top bird, grizzly bears, otters, red wolves, and covotes at the zoo's new Mike and Mary Stark Grizzly Ridge attraction. For an even closer look, kids can slide through the river otter exhibit in a fully-enclosed acrylic tube while critters swim around them.

GREATER CLEVELAND ADUARIUM If watching sharks swallow fish whole is one of your macabre hobbies, visit this aquarium during feed time and stand in the SeaTube, a 175-ft long cylindrical tank holding 230,000 gallons of water and four species of sharks and other aquatic life. Stop by the Touch Pool, an 11,000-gallon home to crustaceans and stingrays, to get hands-on with the slimy and crusty sea creatures.

CLEVELAND MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY

If you want to touch creatures and still keep your fingers, this museum has plenty of safe fossilized and stuffed animals to enjoy. For starters, catch the fierce face-off between Tyrannosaurus Rex and Triceratops - which fossilized skeleton is gnartier? Once you're begging for live action, head outside to the Ralph Perkins II Wildlife Center to see some breathing native Ohioans like owls, deer, hawks, and bobcats.

It's going to be a monstrous winter for Cleveland sports. LeBron is back, and the Cavaliers are aiming to dominate the NBA East like the basketball giants of old. The Browns are the consummate dark horse of the AFC North, but with skilled leaders like Joe Haden, Jordan Cameron, and local guarterback Brian Hoyer, it will be a thrilling season of epic wins and narrow losses. Oh, and then there are the actual monsters — the Lake Erie Monsters — the icy bruisers of the American Hockey League. Supporting that pro sports community, Cleveland also has a monstrous amount of recreational athletics — from snowshoeing and sking to river fishing and indoor mountain biking.

Monsters bring big hits to the rink

By Mike Kezdi

Cleveland is a food town thanks to the likes of Michael Symon and his ilk, but for hockey fans there is only one place to go when talking about a biscuit in a basket and that's Quicken Loans Arena. Though many know the building as LeBron's House or the place for kiddles to ogle Disney on Ice, it's also home to the Lake Erie Monsters, the American Hockey League team affiliated with the Colorado Avalanche. It's worth noting 88 percent of the players you see in the NHL got their start in this league.

The Monsters home opener is Oct. 11 against the Grand Rapids Griffins and given Ohio's collective "comradery" of the state of Michigan, it's safe to say they're our biggest rivals. In all, the team plays 38 games at home, of which 14 are on Fridays, 11 on

The last time that happened was the 1963-64 season with the Cleveland Barons. The team has plenty of promotional events throughout the season, including:

Oct. 31 vs. Texas: It's a Halloween Party with trick-or-treat on the concourse and dollar dogs.

Dec. 20 vs. Grand Rapids: Monsters ear warmers giveaway.

Jan. 3 vs. Oklahoma City: Cleveland Barons 50th anniversary celebration.

THE SECOND COMING

LeBron returns with one goal: Bring a ring to Cle

By Jason Q. Freed

As Cleveland has hopes of planning its first championship parade route in 50 years, we know for sure where the magic is going to happen this NBA season - at the corner of Huron and Prospect inside Quicken Loans Arena One of the greatest ballers to ever play the game, LeBron James announced in the off-season that he will bring his talents back to the Cleveland Cavaliers with one goal in mind: Win a championship for his hometown team. And this time around, he'll have some help. All-Star Kyrie Irving is becoming a superstar in his own right, and the Cavs just made a deal for Kevin Love, who has quietly become one of the 10 best players in the league.

The Cavs, who are installing key pieces and parts around those three, including Mike Miller and Shawn Marion, are immediate front-nunners for the title. James, thought to be at the peak of his career, led the Miami Heat to two championships and four NBA Finals appearances in four years before deciding to return to his native Northeast Ohio. His return has thrust the Cavaliers, and the City of Cleveland, into the national spotlight. The team, led by first-year coach David Blatt, opens at home Oct. 30 against the New York Knicks, and James and company will take on the Milwaukee Bucks at The Q on New Year's Eve. James is sure to lead the Cavaliers back to The Finals. so get tickets while you can.

Diverse Tastes

The only problem with good food? It attracts a rabble. Carnivores, vegetarians, chocolate-chasers, craft beer groupies - Cleveland has a major infestation of foodies. Hungry, zombielike crowds continue to line up for the city's unique take on sophisticated steak and seafood (like Blue Point Grille), artisanal chocolatiers (like Lilly Handmade Chocolates), and gourmet food trucks (like the Hodge Podge Truck). Of course, the city's ultimate culinary attraction has to be the West Side Market - Ohio's last municipallyowned grocery market - home to some 100 ethnic vendors. Just as noteworthy: Across the street is Great Lakes Brewing Co., the cornerstone in Cleveland's craft beer movement.

Fall menus showcase local farms

By Jason Q. Freed

The farm-to-table movement has ignited Cleveland's culinary culture and added fuel to a dining scene that was already on fire. Cleveland's Midwestern position provides its talented chefs with plenty of nearby resources from which to raise premium livestock and cultivate the finest ingredients Earlier this year Ben Bebenroth, chef-owner of Spice Kitchen and Bar in Cleveland's Gordon Square district, scored the rights to Spring Hill Farm in the Cuyahoga Valley National Park, where he looks to expand his produce production. This harvest season, Spice will feature a variety of hardwood-grilled heirloom vegetables and heritage breed animals on the menu, along with more local-focused small plates aimed at seasonal snacking.

Brandt Evans' Pura Vida Restaurant, located on Public Square, will offer a unique fall menu sourced from nearby farms. Evans is planning to put a twist on some autumn staples, including pork cheek and goat cheese dumplings with an apple cider glaze, seared sea scallops with a chanterelle mushroom ragout, and pumpkin polenta with roasted walnuts and Swiss chard. At Greenhouse Tavern, where chefowner Jonathon Sawver introduced Cleveland to farm-to-table cuisine, the harvest menu will reflect Sawyer's penchant for foraging. Whole roasted nuts - black walnuts, butternuts and hickory nuts - are expected to litter the dishes, while locally grown heirloom fruits, such as melon, peaches, apples, and blueberries, will showcase Cleveland's fertile ground.

The newest kid on the block, Urban Farmer, takes garden fresh to the next level. In addition to local and seasonal produce, chef Brad Cecchi is amped to bring in some braised meats, such as short ribs, lamb shoulder, and sugo with cavatelli. There are so many choices you may need to pick a few.

216.781.3222 OHIOCITY.ORG F

Foodies and fans of craft beer call Ohio City their urban oasis. Just across the Cuvahoga River, west of downtown, the city's yellow-bricked West Side Market has been home to haggle-friendly meat, seafood, and veggie vendors for over 100 years, but it's Ohio City's Victorian-era homes, boutique eateries, and famous craft brewers (like Great Lakes Brewing Co.) that have made it one of the city's symbols for urban renewal (where hip meets heritage).

Directions from Downtown

Food, faith, and the famous Feast of the Assumption Festival (Aug. 13-16) all help define this little Italian village, located at the base of Murray Hill. Community and spirituality also commune in proud religious and social centers like the Holy Rosary Church and the Alta House.

Chic or shabby, our local boutiques have got you covered By Jen Jones Donatelli

Here in the Cleve, it's pretty much always 'Small Business Saturday, thanks to an impressive plethora of local vendors, shops, and plucky entrepreneurs. Case in point: the roving, DIY-tastic Cleveland Bazaar (once known as Bazaar Bizarre - times have a-changed). With exhibitors like "The Republic of Cute" and "I Heart Skeletons," you know you're in for some crafty goodness. Tip: Check out clevelandbazaar.org for the latest show.

Same goes for the Cleveland Flea (aka the #CLEFLEA). Founded last February, this monthly maker-fest on St. Clair features a bevy of vendors, food trucks, and the occasional flock of sheep (no joke.) This event's cup overfloweth with creative handmade goods, and you can even learn to make your own — thanks to classes ranging from "Upcycled Owl Crafting" confabs to fruit butter workshops.

There's also the 5th Street Arcades, a downtown hub more than 35 shops strong. Browse handcrafted furniture at Home at 5th Street, stop and smell the paper flowers at Love, Anji, or check out Natural Effect for Tocally grown, locally sewn' threads. Shop anywhere in the building and present your receipt at Bright Green, and you'll get a free 5th Street Arcade tote bag (all the better for toting your new wares). Helpful hint: Time your trip to coincide with the on-site farmers' market, held every Friday from November through May, for tasty one-stop shopping.

And over at 78th Street Studios. the "Portlandia" vibe is palpable (in the best way) during its monthly "Third Fridays" event — predictably, every third Friday of the month This creative haven opens its doors for a spirited free-for-all during which visitors can browse 40-plus studios and art galleries, indulge in food truck fare, and support various local artists doing the pop-up thing. Now go forth and do your part for Cleveland's economy

We take our warm welcome literally, that's why we give you a fresh-fromthe-oven chocolate chip cookie at check-in. And that's just the beginning of all the personal touches we make before you arrive, so you can just relax and enjoy.

Get a Room! Kings deserve castles. They deserve king-sized beds for starters (a place to rest their beautiful queens). They require kingly dining for family and friends matched with the utmost in over-pampering. Well fear not your graciousness! Cleveland is a mighty land full of such palaces. Might we suggest DoubleTree's towering 11-story Tudor Arms? It's full of imperial, old-world English charm. Or you might enjoy the new, splendid Westin Cleveland Downtown? Perhaps you'd prefer a boutique manor like the Starwood Aloft Hotel in the Flats? Maybe you're a bed-and-breakfast type - then we'd suggest Ohio City. Choose and your castle awaits.

Get Around Town Public transportation can be an adventure in some cities. It's a little different in Northeast Ohio. Cleveland actually has a "free-with-a-smile" trolley system that connects you to downtown, matched with award-winning rapid transit lines called the RTA. High-tech mobile apps like Uber are connecting visitors who need a ride with expert local drivers using just a smartphone or tablet, and old-world transit like the Cuyahoga Valley Scenic Railroad still explores Cleveland's beautiful parks and natural attractions, even in the winter. Our public transportation is still an adventure, just the kind we call fun.

ECONOMIES OF ART

Artists understand frugality, It's probably a major reason why the recently-renovated Cleveland Museum of Art is free to tour. It houses some 45,000 art pieces spanning 6,000 years, along with a breathtaking new central atrium and the largest multi-touch microtile screen in the United States called Gallery One.

MONEY FOR NOTHING

In wild irony, you can learn about money for free. The Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland's Learning Center and Money Museum charges zilch for admission. It has more than 25 hands. on exhibits about cash including a 23-foot-tall money tree. Granted, we spend most of our time trying to find the fakes in the counterfeit bills exhibit.

SOLIDARITY OUTTA BE FREE

Peace is the right of all humanity, so of course, Cleveland's amazing peace garden is free to all (except for you hate mongers). The Cleveland Cultural Gardens uses 31 distinct gardens to recount the unique "landscapes" of 20th century America, from major events like WWII to specific ethnic groups that changed history.

NO COST GAWKING

Money problems at the Horseshoe Casino Cleveland? Take a breather and walk right outside to Public Square to enjoy the famous Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument (it's free for gawkers). Its 125-foot omate column is carried of polished, black Quincy stone, topped with a grand statue of the Goddess of Freedom, commemorating the Amencan Civil War

GRAVE FINANCES

A historical, horticultural, architectural, sculptural, and geological gem, the 285-acre Lake View Cemetery is the final resting spot of many famous Clevelanders, including oil giant John D. ### CLEVELANGER TIPS

In Cleveland, "soda" is referred to as "pop." If you hear "Burning River" or "Holy Moses," it's just someone ordering a craft beer made locally by Great Lakes Brewing Company, Many Clevelanders identify themselves as being either eastsiders or westsiders (the division being the Cuyahoga River), but all seem to claim downtown

Cleveland has a proud history that is 218 years in the making. General Moses Cleaveland of the Connecticut Land Company came to the Western Reserve and founded the City of Cleveland in 1796 The name changed to its current spelling in 1831 when the "a" was dropped in order to fit the city's name on a newspaper masthead.

FUN FACTS

Cleveland is the home of Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster, the creators of Superman, as well as a filming location for major motion pictures including "A Christmas Story" and "The Avengers" and "Captain America 2: The Winter Soldier." LifeSavers candy, the modern golf ball and the electric streetlight are all Cleveland firsts invented right here in Cleveland.
